

Go Faster Festival II (Go Fester)

Bloomsbury Studio, 9th & 10th of September 2016

The cool kids of indie comedy DVD Go Faster Stripe are, once again, occupying The Bloomsbury Studio for two nights in September and they're bringing six amazing comedy shows with them.

The Go Faster Festival is not only giving audiences a chance to see an astounding line up of original comedy from the likes of Phil Nichol, Seymour Mace and Tom Parry, they're also recording all six of their shows for future DVD release.

Come down on Friday the 9th of September and check out David Trent and his unique brand of high octane audiovisual tech-comedy (a searing blend of live rage and mashed-up video content - The Scotsman). Then stick around to catch Scottish Comedian of the Year winner, Scott Agnew (Kind of a genius - The List), as he tells tales of misadventure from this year's Edinburgh Fringe show I've Snapped My Banjo String, Let's Just Talk.

On Saturday the 10th of September there are TWO chances to see Edinburgh award winning comedian Phil Nichol (Phenomenal. Just phenomenal - The Scotsman) as he celebrates twenty years of comedy with the shows, I Don't Want to Talk About It and this year's Edinburgh Fringe offering, Twenty.

Also on the 10th is Edinburgh award nominee Seymour Mace (Made me completely lose myself to laughter - The Times) who will be bringing his own brand of unpredictable showmanship to The Bloomsbury and double Edinburgh award nominee Tom Parry (Parry is Lord of Misrule - The Guardian) who will be recording his 2015 Edinburgh Fringe show Yellow T-Shirt.

Tickets for the festival are priced on a sliding scale (see below) but a weekend ticket for the entire Go Faster Festival will cost just £30 and we're also throwing in a DVD from our back catalogue for free, yes, FOR FREE. Every person who attends all shows on a single day can choose a free DVD from any of the recordings from the, now legendary, first GFStival.

The festival kicks off at 7.30pm on Friday the 9th and starts again at 2pm on the 10th with plenty of time in-between shows to grab a drink, a bite to eat or to give your stomach muscles time to relax before another laughter work out.

For more information you can visit the Go Faster Stripe website www.gofasterstripe.com or contact organiser Chris Evans directly via email chris@gofasterstripe.com

"Go Faster Stripe is an amazing independent company, filming DVDs for some of the country's best comedians, Chris Evans (not that one) is one of the great (mainly) unsung heroes of the UK comedy scene" - Richard Herring

Tickets:

For 1 show: £10
For 2 shows: £18
For 3 show: £24
For 4 shows: £28
For 5 show: £30
For 6 shows: £30

Performance times:

Fri, 9th September at 7:30pm – David Trent
Fri, 9th September at 9:30pm – Scott Agnew
Sat, 10th September at 2:00pm – Seymour Mace
Sat, 10th September at 4:00pm – Phil Nichol – I Don't Want to Talk About It.
Sat, 10th September at 6:30pm – Tom Parry
Sat, 10th September at 8:30pm – Phil Nichol - Twenty